She met, fell in love, and married, Bob Bridwell. They had 60 wonderful years together, during this time they had four children. She was a wonderful homemaker and farmers wife.

She enjoyed spending time with her family and friends, cooking, traveling, playing cards and games where she was very competitive, working cattle, spending time tending to her flower beds and yard, and volunteering at the school while her children were growing up. She was very involved in her grandchildren's lives where she constantly influenced them with her love and wisdom.
