“ He was the only brother I had. We saw each other only a few times over the years after I left Lindsay and moved about the country. We stayed as close as we could, and when we were together he always tried to make me feel special when I was with him. I will miss him a lot.

“ I was not fortunate enough to live close enough to my big brother to see him as much as I would like to have. But he was in my thoughts so much. I have such good memories of our childhood and growing up. He was quite a character and a great big brother. I will miss him.
