“ Alan, Susan, Debbie, and David:

I don't know where to start. Maybe I should just say how special both of your parents were to me. I can't begin to recount the wonderful memories.

Your dad was that special kind of person that didn't ever say much, but when he did you were expected to listen. I remember well when the Orr family moved to Lindsay, if for no other reason because Alan and I spent practically every day together.

You each should take great pride in what your folks brought to the community, and how much they were respected.

My condolences to each of you, and I hope to see you soon.
