“ We have such fond memories of Ken and of course Donna, Debbie and Mike as well. Ken and his family have always loved life and friends, were always inclusive and welcoming, and always gracious and caring. Ken's journey to study and practice medicine was one of determination and sheer will. All the family shared the difficult times, becoming closer and enjoying each other along the way. He revelled in his relationships with his children and grandchildren. Yet, to lose a child is to suffer one of life's greatest trajedies though to have loved Mike for so long is one of life's greatest joys. As a doctor wannabe, I looked to Ken for advice not only about how to navigate the trials of medical school and, later, practice, but also how to remain humble while still taking pride in my work. Sue and I will be forever grateful that Ken and Donna cared enough of us to attend our wedding in 1968 in Atlanta. Ken's was a life of grit and love, joy and loss, family and friends...a life well lived.

“ Dear Deb and the entire Horsley family. Our hearts break with you. We know death is never easy. While your family struggles with the emotions of intense sadness, disbelief, even through your questions and tears, there is a comfort in knowing that God is present. He draws near to the broken hearted. He is an ever-present help in times of trouble. Jesus Christ himself is our peace when we can find none in our present situation. He restores our soul. In His time and in His way, God mends the hearts of the broken hearted. We love Him and we trust Him even when we don't get Him at all. He is our Hope.

“ My sincere condolences to the family of Ken Horsley. Doc was a great man, husband & father. I had the privilege of knowing him for more than 50 years and have shared many a story, a laugh, a beverage, a hunting trip or a special occasion in his company. We were both hit hard by the loss of his beloved son, Mike. While my pain was great, Doc's had to be unbearable. I find solace in knowing the two of them are re-uniting in a place free of pain and suffering. RIP, Doc.
